GOLDEN WEDDING OF MR. AND MRS. J. C. CABLISH, SR.

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad on East Second street was the scene of the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cablish, Sr., of East Second street.

The house was decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers, the color scheme being gold and white, and was carried out in tasteful effect.

As the guests entered the house they were met by the little Misses Evelyn and Catherine Cablish, granddaughters of the bride and groom, who presided gracefully at the punch bowl.

At 8:30 o'clock the bride and groom were reunited in marriage to the beautiful strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Minnie Whaley, daughter of the bride and groom. The bride carried a beautiful bouquet of sunburst roses. After congratulations the bride and groom and their eight children marched to the dining room. The table was tastefully arranged and decorated with the prevailing color scheme, gold and white. In the center was the bride's cake, with its fifty burning candles. The gifts were numerous, valuable gold coins predominating.

Those who were present to enjoy the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. George Vantine and six children of Eastland, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Childs and son, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cablish, Jr., and three sons, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cablish and two children of Dover, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cablish and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Cablish, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Whaley and son of Newport, Mrs. George Hughes and son Walter, of Newport, and Mrs. Jake Schreff of Cincinnati. In all there were thirty-nine children and grandchildren present.

May Mr. and Mrs. Cablish live to celebrate many returns of their nuptial day is the wish of The Ledger.

THAT LIMESTONE BRIDGE.

Attention has been called to the fact that the following conditions obtain at Limestone bridge, recently repaired: The post on the west end of the guardrail on the footbridge had never been put in position. A few remaining planks in the footbridge are still unnailed and four large iron girders are still lying where they were dropped.

Rev. A. F. Felts and wife were given a surprise Thursday night with a donation party by a large number of the friends and members of the Forest Avenue M. E. church, of which Rev. Felts is pastor. They arrived about 7 o'clock at their home on East Second street with everything good, which was appreciated very much. Music and a social time was enjoyed by all present until a late hour.

The Adams Express Company suffered a $60,000 fire at Cincinnati Friday. Loss covered by insurance.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB AND HUMANE SOCIETY.

At the Library parlors Friday afternoon an important meeting of the Woman's Club and Humane Society was held jointly.

In an informal discussion on the school law of New York and that part especially relating to New York City, it developed that there is a strong feeling that there should be at least one woman on every board of education.

After the meeting was called to order Mr. C. E. Geisel made an excellent talk to the club on the Mason County Humane Society's work. He made three important points, "humane education," "big sister movement" and "all societies should have a humane side." These points are worthy of consideration and study by all lovers of the human family. He closed by quoting Dr. Stillman, president of the American Humane Society on "Humane Education."

"I believe that the most important single problem which confronts humanitarians at the present time is the extension of humane education. It is needed among all classes of society, from the highest to the lowest. It should find a place in the scheme of education adopted by every commonwealth. Its principles should be propounded intelligently and authoritatively in every public and private school in the land. It should become ingrained in our mental make-up. We should not be educated savages, but something a great deal better. Children need also to be taught love of country and the fundamentals necessary for economic existence; they need instructions in conduct, in consideration for others, and in those finer courses and arts which go to make life and character worth while. If humane education were taught for ten years, as it should be, in all schools of this country, it would not make Americans less patriotic but it would make them vastly better citizens, with deeply ingrained respect for the rights of others, and a thorough conviction of the duty of justice to the helpless and of a living practical righteousness in person conduct. Let all our societies throughout this broad country of ours, bend their energies to lay the foundation for a national culture while will make the fighting of cruelty on the streets and in the courts wholly unnecessary, by bringing up our future citizens so that they will possess as a part of their inner consciousness that kindness of spirit which should be shown to the helpless under all conditions. Then, and not until then, will justice and mercy rule the earth."

He was followed by Humane Officer W. I. Nauman and others. Mr. Nauman's remarks were poignant and to the point. Both the club and society are doing a good work. If they can get the financial backing they deserve, great things along humane lines will be done in Maysville and Mason county.

The Snap Shot Man will get you. Run as fast as ever you can when you see the camera man—that is if you are a modest and retiring disposition. Otherwise stand still and be mugged for the movies. A snap shot artist is on the streets of Maysville taking pictures of people and things. The pictures will be shown next Wednesday and Thursday at the Washington Theater, thus affording us an opportunity of seeing ourselves as others see us.

The trouble is that the photographer sees most of his victims before they see him, and thus deprived of an opportunity to pose, the result is entirely natural even if unsatisfactory to the subject.

The dear girls will see how they look as they walk down the streets of our city. The married man who was snapped this morning while goo-gooing at a pretty girl will be exposed. The young farmer who took a pretty stenographer to lunch was caught in the act. The young collector detected rearing in front of a cigar store will have a hard time squaring himself with the boss.

The camera's main purpose is causing considerable speculation. He asks no one's permission, but if you look funny enough for a comic supplement he just shoots you and smiles if you make a fuss.

The above article will explain the presence on our streets of a snap-shot man during the next few days.

The pictures will be shown at the Washington Theater next Wednesday and Thursday.

Crawford, of Rural Route No. 1, widow of William Crawford, of Company 1, Sixteenth Regular Kentucky Infantry, has been granted a pension at the rate of $12 per month, together with the accrued pension due her husband up to the time of his death. AUTO BLOWS UP

C. L. Mains of Minerva, Has Narrow Escape While Coming To Maysville.

Mr. C. L. Mains of Minerva, the popular auto bus driver of that thriving little country town, had a narrow escape Friday morning while coming to Maysville.

Just as he was nearing Moransburg his machine stopped suddenly, and before he could ascertain the cause of the trouble, an explosion took place in the engine that could be heard several hundred yards away. In an instant he was covered with steam and by rare presence of mind he got away from the explosion with only a few slight burns on the face and hands.

Upon investigation it was found that the radiator had burst and the hood blown fifty or more feet away from the machine.

Just what caused the accident is not known, but it is thought that the overflow pipe become stopped up on account of freezing, and this produced the explosion.

Mr. Mains had a narrow escape and was still nervous when interviewed by The Ledger man.

The damaged automobile was towed to Maysville, where it will be repaired. The engine was almost completely demolished.

BEAUTIFUL CITY ADMIRER.

Let a handsome, sprightly and stylishly garbed woman walk down the street, and every eye will be turned upon her. It is our instinctive recognition of that which appeals to us. The eye but obeys the will of the brain and of the mind.

And as we gaze in admiration upon the wonders of womanhood, so it is when the brightest and the cleanest of nature and the works of man are opened up to us. We see, we admire, and we retain our impressions throughout the years to come.

Maysville may be like the woman. It may be clean, spotless, sanitary and a thing of beauty, or it may wither and decay through neglect and indifference. It may be garbed in the beauties of the handicraft of man, or it may drift along in fatters and obscurity. It may compel the admiration of other people and draw them to our fold, or it may be a place to be seen and shunned and forgotten. It is for us to say, for us to write the verdict of our future.

The birth of a new year should see the dawn of a new order of things in Maysville. It should see every man and every woman striving to make this the brightest and most attractive spot in this whole section of the state. It should see us striving with might and determination to convert a pleasant country town into a garden spot of beauty, with health, happiness and prosperity as the heritage of our daily life. It can be done if we want to do it.

Take a walk around the business section of Maysville. It will compare favorably with the average towns of its size. But it should not simply be on a par with other places. It should be the best of all towns of its class, because our business men have the ability to make it such if some one will take the lead and inaugurate an improvement movement.

There are some houses in town that have the appearance of age simply for want of a coat or two of paint. They are good houses, and shelter excellent people, but the visitor from abroad gets the impression that the town is run down and is a good place to shun, and his ideas are passed on to other people and we lose.

In some places the fences and yards are well kept and present an attractive appearance, but there should be more of them. Every place should be in the artistic class, and then other people would talk and the talk would all be to our credit. Tangles were made for us and people will use them, and it is up to us to how they use them when we are the subject of conversation.

We might give Maysville a general overhauling in every way this spring and shove it right up the head of the class. If there is enough funds in the treasury to do these things of a public nature till have hands and willing hearts, and every man could declare a new holiday occasionally and all turn out and rake this old burg to end to end. Personally we would consider a few days spent as quite a lark, something of a holiday, and we don't for one minute think we are more liberal or open minded than the rest of citizens.

And while we were in the hustling mood we might find a vacant building and convert it into a rest and reading room for our friends in the farms when they come to Maysville. And we might even use it for a fathering place for our townspeople, where we can meet our friends and while away an occasional pleasant hour. But specially do we need something of the kind for the convenience of the farmers and their wives and daughters and sons when they are with us and have an idle hour or two before returning to their homes. Whenever a town appreciates and provides for the convenience of the farmers that town is on the high road to prosperity. Let's be that town in 1916.

SAYS CONGRESSMAN MONDELL.

"In the good old days—in the good old Republican days—Uncle Sam, proud, dignified, prosperous, sat in the place of customs and from the goods and wares offered there in competition with the labor and industry of our country collected goodly sums without burden to our people, which met abundantly the public needs. But today Uncle Sam, worried, abashed, apologetic, stands hat in hand, begging pennies at the telephone booths, levying tribute on little children and sweet girl graduates in the tax on gum. Even the chastened joy with which we pay our debts by giving a new note is killed and smothered by the shadow of the clutching fingers of the Treasury taking its toll of our hard-earned promises to pay. Whether we buy or sell or borrow, the Democratic administration stands at our shoulders, a beggar of pennies, while sleek, well-fed publicans in the form of Democratic tax gatherers take a large toll from the dimes and pennies wrung from a burdened people ere they find the limited remainder under the yawning vaults of an empty Treasury.

To build the tow new battleships which Mr. Daniels insists shall be laid down in government navy yards means just about a million of extra cost for each one. But, when taxes are so easily imposed, why worry about more money? In addition, it is said that neither of the yards which Josephus desires to put up can do a stroke of work on the ships before next September. This is a more serious matter—if the administration is really contemplating to provide a navy within five years.

If Senator Weeks pushes through his bill for an army of a million men, with five acres of free land for each enlistment, we are ready to enlist in every recruiting office in the country. Some patriotism, that!

Every time we break a leg trying to wriggle from under the crush of delinquent subscribers, cussing in to pay up, we wish we had a dozen more legs to break.

When you criticize the policy of this paper just bear in mind that we may be equally critical of your method of handling your own private affairs.

When a self made man continually reminds you that he is a self made man, it is time to keep your eye on him and your hand on your pocketbook.

In founding a new college a lecture hall used to be the first thing put up, but now it should be the stadium.

ITEMS FROM ALL AROUND

New Elks' Building.

(Richmond Pantograph.)
Work on the Elks' building is progressing and Mr. Covington thinks he can move into the building in two or three weeks. He has had installed the automatic fire extinguisher or whatever it is. If a fire starts in the house this extinguisher will get busy. A certain amount of heat starts is going.

Accidentally Sealed.

(Mt. Olive Tribune-Democrat.)
Our well known citizen, Colonel Jim Rankins, met with a peculiar and painful accident at his home on North Main street few days ago. He was standing with his back near a stove, when in some unaccountable manner a blanket on the stove was upset, the hot water splashing over Mr. Rankins and burning him considerably. Mr. Rankins has been in feeble health for several years.

Good Sale of Turkeys.

(Robertson Advance.)
Here is what we consider the best sale of turkeys made this year in Robertson county. Mrs. Walter Linville sold fifty-seven turkeys last week to Maysville parties at the fancy price of $14.44. She kept six hens and a cocker out of this year's flock. The sale price was 18 cents a pound and the turkeys averaged a little to the rise of thirteen pounds.

This looks to us like a better proposition than raising tobacco, but her husband raised the latter, so we'll have to wait and see what the result of his sale shows.

Kills Horse For Thief.

(Providence Enterprise.)
Hearing a noise near the hen roost Wednesday night and thinking it was caused by a chicken thief, Albert Funkhouser of near the L. & N. depot, crawled out of bed and taking his shotgun slipped outside. A moving object loomed up in the darkness and certain that it was some nocturnal intruder bent on robbing the henery, Albert emptied the contents of the gun into the supposed thief, when the noble family horse fell to the earth with a heavy thud. The load of shot struck the horse in the throat, severing the jugular vein, and the poor beast bled to death.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY.

January 8.

Angustus Thomas, the new leader of the American theatrical world, who is carrying on the work founded by Charles Frohman, is 57 years old today.

When last May the cable that brought the news that Charles Frohman had gone down with the Lusitania there was wide speculation as to what would become of his far-flung enterprise. Thomas had scored successes as a playwright and as a producer, and he was chosen as the man fitted to continue Frohman's work. Which means that Thomas is to be the drama leader in America, the actor's friend and the interpreter of what the public wants for its amusement. Mr. Thomas was born in St. Louis on January 8, 1859. After graduation from the public schools he studied law, then went as a page to the National House of Representatives. Railroaded Interacted him and he worked six years in a freight office. Then he took to newspaper writing and became an editor out in Kansas City. The theater was his hobby from early youth, and he produced several amateur plays with some success in Missouri. He married in 1890, Miss Lila Colby, with whose father he had studied law, and went to New York to pursue his work in dramatic literature. He has written dozens of the most popular plays of the day and has directed some of the leading actors and actresses.

Makes a Great Noise.

(Adair County News.)
A large rock, supposed to weigh forty or fifty tons, that has been hanging on the cliff below the "Big Rock," fell a few days ago and rolled into Russell Creek, almost filling the stream. It had doubtless been hanging since the Noah freshet. The noise it made in rolling down the hill was heard for a mile or two.

Airship Mail Route.

(Casey's Weekly, Burkesville.)
Wintry weather has come in full blast and bad roads are now developing. It will soon be next to impossible to haul the mail from Glasgow to Burkesville.

Sometime back we noticed that the department was going to try out a number of airships on mail routes. If there's a single mail route in the United States that really and truly needs the services of an airship in the carrying of mail it is this route, No. 29, 630 from Glasgow to Burkesville. We hope the department will try this forty mile route by an air route and, incidentally, save the lives of a great number of poor old horses this winter, besides giving us service that can't be given by the ground route.

They Saw 'Em.

(Climax Madissonian.)
They saw 'em. Clarence and Pete Moberley saw 'em. Neither of 'em had been to Lexington or Winchester. But while going through the field of Mrs. Julia Shearer near Ford, the Moberley brothers came upon a bunch of seventeen snakes, big snakes, four and five feet long, little snakes, snakes of many kinds, huddled together. After killing all that did not escape, they continued their walk when they came to the second relay of snakes—five in number, big, little and of indifferent kinds. Disputing these they continued to Ford, where they told of their experience.

In explanation, the Kentucky river has been on a rampage which drove the snakes from their dens. But just what caused them to collect in squads can not be known.

The Moberley brothers are reputable citizens and Dr. J. Williams, a prominent physician of Red House, vouches for the truth of the story.

SIGNS OF DANGER

That Should Be Heeded By Maysville People.

There's serious danger in neglecting any weakness of the kidneys. The warning that Nature gives should not be overlooked. If troubled by too frequent passage of the kidney secretions; burning or scalding; if the secretions are highly colored and contain sediment when left standing—if you have backache, too, with frequent headaches and dizziness, make up your mind that your kidneys are affected and begin using some reliable kidney remedy. Deaths from kidney disease have increased in the United States alone, 72 per cent in the last 20 years. The risk is too great—you can't afford to delay. Maysville people recommend Don's Kidney Pills. Can you ask for better proof of merit than the statement of this Maysville resident?

W. F. Lynch, 127 West Third St., Maysville, says: "My kidneys were weak and the passages of the kidney secretions were scanty and painful. Having used Don's Kidney Pills before, I again got a box and they quickly restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Don's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Lynch had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

GOOD ADVICE.

The Louisville Times editorially has this to say regarding Mr. Edwin P. Morrow and the Republican party: "MORROW TO THE MINORITY."

"In the satisfaction that all Democrats who want to see their party serve the state and in the Governor's message, slight is not to be lost of the charge delivered to the minority by the defeated candidate for Governor.

"In the matter of promises, there was little to choose between the Democratic and the Republican platform. Either if lived up to, would have righted wrongs and builded surely for a better Kentucky.

"Edwin P. Morrow made a strong candidate on a strong platform. But for the fact that he would have been handicapped by a hostile Legislature, there was every reason to believe that he would have made a strong Governor. That he is more of a Kentuckian than a partisan and is the type of man the Commonwealth has need of in public life, came to be generally surmised in the course of his campaign. Surmise becomes conviction when, though defeated, he gives to his followers in the General Assembly the advice to weigh every measure on which they are called on to vote by the one test, 'Is it good for Kentucky?' Defeat does not in Edwin P. Morrow's opinion relieve the Republican representatives from the obligations voluntarily assumed in their platform. Wherever the Democrats propose legislation looking to the achievement of the ends to which the Republican party committed itself in the campaign he declares it the duty of the Republicans to lend their support.

"Much of the weakness of past administrations has been due to the fact that the opposition constituted merely a choice of evils. If the Republicans in the General Assembly have the wisdom to follow Mr. Morrow's counsel, the Democrats can afford few blunders either of omission or commission if they are to retain control of the state's government.

"One blunder which Mr. Morrow points out will be the failure to pass a redistricting bill which will insure fair play."

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mrs. A. N. C. Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell. I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together."

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

Work Called For and Delivered.

GOVERNOR USES CONVICTS

In His Own Home—Christmas Day Marked Second Year of Successful Experiment.

Olympia, Wash., January 8.—Christmas day marked two years' successful operation of one of the most novel experiments in the handling of criminals ever attempted—their employment at the executive mansion as "honorary servants" under the direct supervision of Governor Ernest Lister of Washington.

A total of nine convicts from Walla Walla penitentiary have been sent to the mansion to work since the plan was instituted. In detachments of three, one being cook, one houseboy and the third assistant gardener. The men have been bound to the mansion only by their "word of honor" that they would not attempt to escape.

Here is the result. None of the convicts has broken his word. Four finished their stipulated terms of work and departed, each finally securing a good job. Not one of this quartet has since turned up in any other penal institution. Three are still employed in the Governor's mansion. Two were returned to the prison, not for attempt to escape or other breach of conduct, but because they did not perform their work satisfactorily. One of the men, for instance, was smitten with the movies to such an extent that he had no time to work. When he was sent back to jail he took to writing scenarios, in which he was invariably the hero.

Governor Lister pays his convict help 40 cents a day for a seven-day week. The men get $2 a month for spending money, the balance being held until the expiration of their service. One of the men had, upon discharge, over $100 in cash after buying an outfit of clothing. Everything is arranged for the comfort of the convict servants in a cottage on the mansion grounds.

Mrs. Lister has been fully enthusiastic ever since the working out of the plan as the Governor. Her women friends advised her against the plan for they believed Mrs. Lister and her children were at the mercy of desperate criminals. But the Governor and his courageous wife believed in the honor system and were determined to try it out. They were entirely satisfied with the result of their experiment.

Stephen P. Shumate, born in Bath county, Virginia, in 1854, died at his home at Manchester Wednesday. He has been well known to the retail dry goods trade in this county and Lewis county for many years. Three sisters and a brother survive. He was a member of Calvary Commandery No. 13, Knights Templar, at Portsmouth.

SOUP DAYS.

Those cool autumn days make a hot, steaming dish of soup a delight to the palate and most soothing to the tired nerves after a weary day. The very odor of a well-flavored soup as you enter the dining room is an uplift and an inspiration. Then serve soups often and in variety. They are enjoyed alike by rich and poor and may be nutritious and wholesome as well as inexpensive.

A dish of hot soup to fortify a man, woman or child who has a long, cold ride will do more to keep them warm than an armful of hot bricks.

Spanish Chicken Soup.—Heat three cupsful each of veal and chicken stock. Add a grated onion, a finely minced carrot and two stalks of celery, chopped fine. Add a cupful of barley, simmer until the barley is done, season to taste and serve.

Cream of Celery Soup.—Melt a fourth of a cupful of butter and when bubbling hot add a fourth of a cupful of flour, mix well; then add a pint of rich milk and cook until smooth and thick. Cook a large head of celery, cut fine, in boiling water until tender; then rub through a sieve. Measure the pulp and add enough water to make two cupsful. Add to the thickened milk, season with salt and pepper and add more milk or soup stock to make it of the right consistency.

Potato soup is prepared in the same way, using more milk and a cupful of hot mashed potato, and a slice of onion, boiled with the potato and removed before the potato is mashed.

Quick Mutton and Potato Soup.—Add a cupful of mashed potatoes to six cupsful of mutton broth. Heat and add seasoning to taste. Just as it is ready to serve stir in two beaten egg yolks and a half cupful of cream.

Pea Chowder.—Soak over night one cupful of split peas. In the morning drain, cover with cold water, add a pinch of soda and simmer three hours. Fry brown a slice of pork and an onion. Add the drained peas, a can of corn and a cupful of rich milk. Simmer for a half-hour, season with salt, pepper and melted butter and serve with milk crackers, split and toasted.

AMERICAN SURGEON WILL TREAT SHELL-TORN FACES.

New York, January 8.—Among the passengers on the steamship St. Louis which sails today will be Dr. Richard H. Harte, head of the College of Physicians of Philadelphia, who goes to the battleground of France to specialize in the treatment of soldiers whose faces have been torn by shell and shrapnel. Dr. Harte's great success in Philadelphia in reconstructing contours of disfigured faces has been little short of miraculous. Skin grafting is a large element in the work, but the wounds of war will require the restoration of tendons and the suturing of blood vessels and nerves. Dr. J. P. Hutchison, a colleague of Dr. Harte, has been at the head of the American Ambulance Hospital since last June.

ANTI-WAR ECONOMISTS MEET.

Wellesley, Mass., January 8.—The second annual convention of the Society to Eliminate the Economic Causes of the War opens here today. A business session will open the meeting, and tomorrow a mass meeting will be held, at which President Isaac Sprague will give his annual address and Dr. S. Martinez de Alva of Mexico will speak. The final session of the convention will be held in Faneuil Hall, in Boston, on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Hattie Henson, a Danville woman convicted of killing Robert Crouch, a neighbor, in a quarrel said to have been over the barking of a dog, collapsed when a verdict was returned and she was sentenced to prison for from three to four years.

Last Thursday there were a number of hogheads of Indiana tobacco offered for sale on the Augusta market. This tobacco was not of good quality, and had been badly mangled in putting it into the hogheads, consequently did not sell high.

It is all right for the railroads to push ahead the freight traffic, but there are some travelers who have reached the conclusion that passenger trains should not be made to wait on sidetracks while the freight trains go ahead.

The European governments seem to consider this war self-supporting, as they are paying for it in promises to pay.

FLAG RETURNED

Illinois Returns the Famous Battle Emblem of this Great General To Louisiana.

New Orleans, January 8.—Governor Edward F. Dinnio and a delegation from the Legislature of Illinois will present to Louisiana and New Orleans today the famous battle flag of General Andrew Jackson which was made for the valiant defender of New Orleans by the ladies of the city over a century ago. It is the flag under which Jackson fought his memorable victory on January 8, 1815, when, with his brave volunteers from the plantations, he defeated the flower of Britain's army.

Elaborate ceremonies for the formal return of the aged flag will be held here today. The women of New Orleans will be the principal figures in the ceremonies, with the Governors of Illinois and Louisiana. Among the guests of honor are five women whose fathers fought in the battle of New Orleans over a century ago.

The famous flag has a unique history. It is a silk banner about three feet by five, the body of the flag being of white silk with blue silk fringe. An eagle spreads its wings on the flag. This is done in dark and light brown silk. The eagle is decidedly warlike. In one talon it grasps a bunch of arrows and the whole tone is one of defiance. There are thirteen stars on the flag. General Andrew Jackson received the flag from the ladies of New Orleans on December 30, 1814, just before the battle of New Orleans. It was a tribute of the women to the defender of the city, and it carried within its folds the hope for the safety of the city.

After the big victory of Jackson the flag was treasured and during the exciting days of the war for the union, it was taken from its resting place by a cavalry regiment of the Confederacy and was carried in a raid northward in Mississippi. A detachment of Illinois cavalry under General Osterhaus captured the flag at the battle of Black River Ridge in Mississippi, on May 7, 1863. The famous Jackson flag unrecognized by its captors, was sent with other relics to the Illinois state house, and there it has rested during the second half of its first century.

The women of New Orleans discovered the flag some years ago among the treasures at Springfield, Ill., and during the observance of the centenary of Jackson's victory last year decided to ask for its return. The Legislature of Illinois acceded to the request and to do the famous flag honor, Governor Dinnio personally returns it today to the safe keeping of New Orleans.

UNITED STATES AND TOWN AT ODDS OVER WAR HORSE RACE.

Boston, January 8.—The question whether the town of Watertown, Mass., can prevent the establishment within its boundaries of a receiving station for western horses for shipment to France for the use of the belligerent nations will be tested today. It is announced. United States District Attorney Anderson has taken the attitude that Watertown's objection to the horse race is in interference with interstate commerce which goes "beyond the necessities of the case." The town has objected to the use of the union market stockyards in Watertown as the receiving station for the war horses. The Boston & Maine railroad will deliver a shipment today, and is prepared to contest legally any attempt on the part of the town authorities to prevent the receiving of the horses there.

WEDDING UNITES THEATRICAL FAMILIES.

New York, January 8.—The wedding today of Miss Fanny Lydia Davenport Seymour, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Seymour, and Richard Montgomery Field of Boston, unites two families that have been intimately identified with the American stage. The wedding takes place at the Marble Collegiate church, this city. Miss Seymour's father has long been prominent as a stage director, and his work both as actor and manager during the days of the old Boston museum are recalled. Miss Seymour's mother was May Davenport, sister of the late Fanny Davenport. Today's bride has also taken part in many amateur theatricals. The groom is a Boston man, a grandson of the late R. M. Field, for many years the manager of the famous Boston Museum.

Superintendent A. J. Jolly of the Augusta public schools, has been appointed a member of the State Examining Board, he being one of three members.

Many farmers have begun to see the light at "THE LIBERTY WAREHOUSE," of Maysville, Ky., which is not in the "COMBINE," and has the largest sales floor in Maysville and second largest in the county. The managers of THE LIBERTY WAREHOUSE promise the farmers nothing more than the best they can do as tobacco warehouse men. We do not claim that which is not ours by right, and have no time to knock other markets, as we are too busy boosting our own sales and the result is that new faces are seen on our sales floor each day and those faces are wearing a smile when their owners leave town.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
Lesson 2, January 9.
"THE COMING OF THE HOLY SPIRIT"
Acts 2:1-14.

The Lesson Story.
Following the instructions given by Jesus in the last lesson, the Apostles remained in Jerusalem awaiting the coming of the promised Spirit. Ten days after ascension while they were all together, this promised Spirit came. The miraculous attended His coming, and these men, most of them unlearned, were able to speak with other tongues as the Spirit gave them utterance. Those who were in Jerusalem from other countries were surprised to hear these men speak in their own tongue. Some who heard criticized the actions of the Apostles, thinking, possibly, because they could not understand the different languages now spoken by them, that they were speaking as men filled with new wine. This criticism led Peter to address the assembly. His sermon is the text of the lesson for next week.

The Lesson Discussed.
"When the day of Pentecost was come, they were all together in one place." Pentecost was fifty days after the Sabbath of the Passover or Easter Week. It was Sunday. Upon this day the disciples were all together in prayer and praise. One of the necessary requirements to the receiving of the Holy Spirit is that those to receive it are of "one accord." There were no divisions among the disciples now. We can not and therefore, will not receive God's blessing now if we are split up in factions. A united family, a united church or a united community will receive this promised blessing. Any community may have a big revival that will really be of the Lord if that community will unite in a prayerful effort to save souls. One of the reasons there is such a little accomplished today by the Church of the Living God is the members of the church are so little concerned about the progress of the church. The truthfulness of this statement is attested by the small per cent of the Maysville church membership which attended the services of this week of Prayer.

The miraculous is spoken of as the sound of a rushing wind which filled the room and the forked tongues like fire which sat upon each of the disciples and the speaking with other tongues. From the reading one would conclude that it was the sound that filled the room rather than the Holy Spirit, and that the Spirit came to each in the shape of a tongue. It was not fire, but like fire. Therefore, this can not be the "baptism of fire" that John the Baptist spoke of. It was, however, the baptism of the Holy Spirit. The fire baptism will come to those who are lost. (Illustrated by the chaff to be burned. Matt. 3:11-12.)

The Gift of Tongues.

This ability to speak with other tongues was the one miraculous element known to the multitude. It was the means given the Apostles to attract and hold their attention. It is said that they were amazed and marvelled and were perplexed, for they heard, that is, understood, these men as they spoke of the wonderful works of God. The so-called gift of tongues in our day is mere gibberish, accompanied by shoutings and other unsanctified noises. However, the church of Christ is today speaking through her missionaries in many tongues and it is having a marvelous hearing. The Spirit is today speaking through these and other servants of God to the saving of this old world. The Gospel must come from man to man.
